(i)—THE UNPRECEDENTED POPULARITY AND universal demand for Dr. Felix Gourand's Pondres Subtitles, for uprooting hair without the slightest injury to the skim, has awakened the empidity of a nest of vile counter feiters, who are palmingloff upon the publicle spurious and deleterious article as the genuine preparation. To protect purchase its against these deceivers, the proprietor has had cast a splendid square bottle, on the four sides of which are blown the following:—"Dr. Felix Gourand's Poudres Subtiles, for uprooting hair, New York," enveloped in a handsome wrapper, with the Dr 's fac simile. The public may rest assured that every bottle not answering the above description is a worthless imitation, and should be rejected, and those who attempt to deceive, and their injurious composition, shunned and despised. Dr G's Poudres have been long held in high estimation, and are recommended by every one who use them, as uniting entire efficacy with perfect safety in eradicating every description of superflaous hair, however deep the built may be seated. To be had no where else in New York but at 67 Walker street, first store proof Broadway, where instrumerable testimenials can be shown and the preparation tested, if required, by the purchaser. MONEY MARKET. Wednesday, Sept 18-6 P. M.

Stocks are all up again to-lay-a complete change from yesterday. Norwich and Worcester advanced 2 per cent; Stonington, 1½; Harlem, ½; Long Island, ½; Canon, 1¾; Farmers' Trust, ½; Ohio 6's, ½ Mohawk, Erie Railroad and Indiana closed firm at yesterday's prices .-At the New Board there was very little done. Long Island improved } per cent; Canton, 1; Stenington, ; Ohio 6's, }; Farmers' Trust, firm. The operations in the stock market at present are very limited, and those made are confined principally to stecks of the least actual value.— The largest portion of the stock transactions is in Canton Co. and all kinds of reports are circulated to obtain favor for it amongst operators. The stock has certainly advanced rapidly within a few days past, but the impression seems to be very general that the decline will be as rapid The European advices appear to have had very little influence on our markets as yet. The unfavorable accounts in relation to cotton have acted as a damper to the feelings of operators in this market, but no decline has yet taken place in prices. The advices in relation to the weather and crops of Great Britain are also anything but cheering to the producers of this country and those engaged in this busi of the country and those canged in this country in the sound of the harvest nearly secured. There is no country in the world so much interested in abundant harvests as Great Britain, and on the other hand there is no country so deeply interested in an external demand for its agricultural pro ducts as the United States. These two countries being situated in this manner, the attention of the producers of one is turned to the wants of the consumers in the other, and the prospective ability of the local producers to sup

This is a very curious and important table. We find that prices in both years were lower in August—just before harvest—than for any month previous in the year, with one exception, January, 1844, and the importation of wheat has been the heaviest just before the new crop came into the market. came into the market. The amount of wheat in, bond, at the close of every month throughout the year, is very good evidence that for some purpose the supply is allow ed to accumulate, and that it is not thrown upon the mar-ket until just previous to harvest

We see by this a gradual accumulation, to the last of July, until the amount reached 1,338,757 quarters, which, with the impertation for August, made a stock of 2,240,233 quarters, which was reduced by the last of September to 8,917 quarters, accompanied with a very great reduction in prices. These movements on the part of the speculators must have a very injurious effect on the interests of the producers, and on the interests of those who, by a fair competition, could supply the wants of the market throughout the season, and thereby prevent the advance in prices, without injury to the home producers, and with great benefit to the consumer. In the above table we find a very steady increase in prices, up to the last of August, and an accumulation of supplies. The large stock on hand just previous to harvest, came into the market before the new crops were ready, and before the farmers were prepared with their supplies—prices become greatly reduced, and the producers the sufferers. The crops of grain throughout the world for 1844, judging from present accounts, must be much larger than ever before known, and the demand for the supplies of each country, must, in a greater degree than heretofore known, be confined to the consumers within their own limits. We see by this a gradual accumulation, to the last o compared with last, show an enormous increase When we take into consideration the fact that nearly all the flour and grain received thus far, is nearly all the hour and grain received thus iar, is the surplus of last years' crop, and that the new crops have hardly made their appearance, we cannot re-sist the belief that the quantity of grain produced this year, over and above our limited wants for consumption, would almost suffice for another years' supply. withou

The receipts of Flour for the first week of September, 1844, are 49 715 bbls. against 45,729 last year. The tolls received up to the same time, were $242,479 07 in 1844, against $171.986 in 1843. The receipts at Tide Water, in Albany and West Troy, for the first week in September, 1844, were 69,877 bbls. flour and 60,778 bushels of wheat. The aggregate receipts at Tide Water from the opening of navigation to the end of the 1st week in September, were as follows:

Should the new crop come forward very rapidly this season, he supplies in the principal markets at the close of na-

The Railroads of Great Britain have been equally productive. Immense preparations are being made to extend these works throughout the continent. The contract between Mr. Norris, the celebrated locomotive engine builder of Philadelphia, and the Austrian Government, is evidence of the spirit with which the governments on the continent have entered into this business. Ruilroad stocks are favorite investments in this country as well as in Europe, and our roads must ere long prove as produc

Judge King charged the jury this morning in the case of John Daily, charged with the murder of Mathew Hammit on the Tuesday of the Kensington riots. The case has occupied the whole of the attention of the Court for 9 days, and during that period the most intense interest has been manifested by the people for the progress and result of the trial. The charge of the Judge was clear and lucid, and bore strongly against the accused. It occupied about two hours in delivering. It will appear in and local, and bore strongly against the accused. Du Solle of the Times, is waging a bitter war against the "Natives." His little sheet is quite spirited. There seems to-be something about it, which makes it really amusing, if not profitable.

Six ladies, of doubtful reputation, among whom was Miss Mary Miller, and Miss Mary Kline, appeared vesterday afternoon, beautifully dressed, before his Honor, the Recorder, of Victoria galliantry, to answer the charge of keeping houses of doubtful repute, in one of the most celebrated streets in the city, called Elizabeth—exactly three squares from the Recorder's office, and fifty yards from Alderman Redmun's! The ladies looked—the Recorder smiled, and after some little legal ceremony, were each bound over in $1.000 to answer the charge at Court.

Let me, now that the Recorder has determined to do justice to the moral portion of the community, direct his attention to that infamous place called Portland Lane, which has for years been one of the most, notorious dens of prostitution in existence.

John F Smith, against whom a terrible outcry was made, as having been guilty of treason and murder during the Southwark riots, has been discharged from custody, the bilb being ignored yesterday by the grand jury. The charges against Mr. S. were so grave, that the Court reduced for some time to release him upon bail?

fourth day of July last, by Alexender Powell, who hails from Boston, and is known in most of the cities of the Union, as well as in Texas. He handed me the note unsolicited, and desired me, if possible, to raise the money upon it, (it being for $1,000, drawn by himself, and endorsed by a gentleman in Boston.) The note then had about sixty days to run—which he directed me to dispose of at a discount of $100 from the face of the note; and in the event of raising the money, to retain $200 myself and pay him the remaining $700. I made use of every effort in my power to saise the money on the note, but without in my power to raise the money on the note, but without success.

Under the circumstances, it may be proper for me to remark, that from January to July last. Powell has, under various promises, induced me for raise money for him, and at rates most exorbitent, until I had fent him and paid for him upwards of $200, which yet remains unpaid. I urged him very frequently for payment, which resulted in promises, which he has some skill in making.

On receiving the note from Powell, say on or about the 6th ultimo. I placed it in the hands of one of the most respectable men in Philadelphia, for the purpose of having it negotiated; and owing to a combination of circumstances, the subsequent absence of the gentleman from the city, together with indisposition on my part, prevented my suing the gentlemen holding tree note until after I had been arrested for obtaining the note under "faise pretences."

ad my ning the gentlemen nothing from the under "false pretences."

I was arrested for obtaining the note under "false pretences."

I was arrested on the 29th ultimo—and the hearing took place on the 2nd inst.

On the oath of Alexander Powell. I was held to bail by Alderman Bions in the sum of $2,000. On the 21st inst.

I was brought up on a writ of habeas corpus, before judges Jones and Parsons, and again on the oath of Alexander Powell, was held to answer in the sum of $1,500, as Judge Jones remarked. "to show the doubt the court entertained of the justice of this proceeding."

Powell knew perfectly well, prior to his commencing this suit, that on payment of my demands, the note in question would be at once returned to him; and all persons acquainted with the real facts in the case, know that this proceeding has been instituted for the purpose of frightening me out of this note, given to me as security for monies loaned.

I have employed Wm. A. Porter, Esq. and Judge Barton, as counsel.

From the foregoing, as compared with the letters of Powell, as well as the letters of your wrongly conceived.

As an act of justice to myself and family, may I sak an insertion of this letter in your valuable journal.

And much oblige, your obedt servent, W. B. STORM.
